

Have You Outgrown Your T&E Management System?

If your current tool isn't helping you drive value beyond basic expense processing, it's time to find one that does.

Resources Aren't Used Wisely.

Manual and siloed processes slow down teams already pressed for time.

- 1 Expense reports are created using manual entry methods.
- 2 Complex approval chains are handled in person or through email.

Non-Compliance Is the Norm.

Without built-in and scalable expense controls, teams waste time resolving the same issues.

- 3 Teams frequently correct mistakes on expense reports.
- 4 Taxes on expenses incurred outside the US are difficult to track and process.
- 5 Employees book travel at their own discretion, making costs unpredictable.
- 6 Employees are rarely guided to the best spending decisions.

Fraud Prevention Is Patchy and Reactive.

Fragmented and manual measures are ineffective against sophisticated cybercrime.

- 7 Expense audits rely on human-driven random sampling or full audits.
- 8 Fraud is frequently detected after payments or reimbursements are made.

Spend's True Value Isn't Maximized.

Limited visibility into T&E spend prevents teams from making the most of every dollar.

- 9 It's difficult to identify which expenses should be moved onto contracts.
- 10 No one knows how to define good performance on program KPIs.
